DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 13 is objected to because of the following informalities: Claim 13 recites "the speaker array according to claim 10" but claim 10 recites " the method for...". It is clear by the limitation recited in claim 13 that claim 13 should recite " the method for setting audio beams according to claim 10". . Appropriate correction is required.
2. Claims 2-8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

Claim(s) 9-16 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as not falling within one of the four statutory categories of invention. While the claims recite a series of steps or acts to be performed, a statutory "process" under 35 U.S.C. 101 must (1) be tied to another statutory category (such as a particular apparatus), or (2) transform underlying subject matter (such as an article or material) to a different state or thing (Reference the May 15, 2008 memorandum issued by Deputy Commissioner for Patent Examining Policy, John J. Love, titled "Clarification of 'Processes' under 35 U.S.C. 101"). The instant claims neither transform underlying subject matter nor positively tie to another statutory category that accomplishes the claimed method steps, and therefore do not qualify as a statutory process.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hooley et al. (US 2006/0153391) in view of Sawabei (JP 2005-064746).

Regarding claim 1, Hooley discloses a speaker array apparatus, comprising:

a speaker array that has a plurality of speakers for outputting audio beams based on a test audio signal (sound projector 100, Figure 3 includes a plurality of transducers and receives test signal from pulse generator 1000; page 2, ¶ 0038 and page 4, ¶ 0058- ¶ 0059);

a test sound sweep portion that sweeps with the audio beams (signal from pulse generator; 1020; Figure 3; ¶ 0058- ¶ 0059);

a microphone that is placed in a listening position and collects a test sound including direct sounds and reflected sounds of the audio beams output from the speaker array (mic 120 located on the sound projector; ¶ 0058- ¶ 0059) ;

a storage portion that stores a signal level of the test sound collected by the microphone, and sweep angles with which audio beams corresponding to the test sound are output (signal processor 1020, Figure 3; ¶ 0058- ¶ 0059) ;

Art Unit: 2615

a selection portion that selects a plurality of peaks of the signal level based on the signal level of the test sound stored in the storage portion (signal processor 1020, Figure 3; ¶ 0058- ¶ 0059); and a beam setting portion that output audio beams of channels of a multi-channel surround-sound respectively (signal processor 1020, Figure 3; ¶ 0058- ¶ 0059; abstract).

Hooley fails to explicitly teach of a beam setting portion that sets the sweep angles of the selected plurality of peaks as beam output angles which are angles to output audio beams of channels

Sawabei discloses a beam setting portion sets the sweep angles of selected plurality of peaks as beam output angles (beam control part 12, ¶ 0043- ¶ 0048). It would have been obvious to modify Hooley so that the beam setting portions sets the sweep angles of selected plurality of peaks as beam output angles for the benefit of providing a better multi-channel audio system with a simple structure.

Claim 9 is the corresponding method claim to claim 1. The method of claim 9 is comprehended by Hooley as applied above to claim 1. .
